How Do I Start?

The first step to learning more about the Creighton System is to attend an introductory session. The session is scheduled to accommodate the individual or couple's needs and provides the foundation for using the Creighton Model FertilityCare™ System.

Following the session, a series of follow-up appointments are scheduled with a certified practitioner. These sessions are private appointments structured for the purpose of support, learning, chart review, and instruction assessment. There are eight (8) follow-up sessions over the period of a year.

All services are private and confidential.

Benefits of the Creighton Model

- No devices or drugs to use that harm the body or a couple's fertility
 - Safe, healthy, natural
- It teaches couples to understand their bodies and their combined fertility
 - Proven effectiveness to achieve and avoid pregnancy, also for couples with infertility
- It is "reversible"—a couple can change their family planning goals whenever they wish
- It is inexpensive, highly reliable & cooperates with the couple's own natural fertility process
 - It is a shared method of fertility regulation
- It treats fertility as a normal and healthy process
 - It is a system that is firmly based on a respect for human life, human dignity, and the integrity of marriage

Research shows that couples who switch to a natural method of family planning improve their relationships, feel more respected by their partners, and more in control of their fertility.

Creighton Model FertilityCare™

Family Planning with the Creighton Model FertilityCare™ System involves learning about the fertility cycle and the biomarkers your body gives of the natural changes throughout this cycle.

Couples can then use this information to either achieve or avoid pregnancy and to monitor gynecological health. Studies have shown that when the Creighton Model is used to avoid pregnancy, the method effectiveness is 99.5 percent.

Participants report that the Creighton Model enhances marriage through increased respect, communication, and joint decision-making.

NaProTECHNOLOGY®
