Social Justice

NEW* “Trust, Rights, and Human Dignity” Podcast Now Available

Hear Dr. Stanley Amaladas of the Mauro Institute for Peace & Justice at St. Paul's College on the “Humans, On Rights” podcast: “Trust, Rights, and Human Dignity”. In this podcast, host Stuart Murray sits down with Dr. Stanley Amaladas, Director of the Arthur V. Mauro Institute for Peace and Justice at St. Paul's College and University of Manitoba. Dr. Amaladas reflects on his journey from Malaysia to Canada and shares a powerful story about his citizenship interview that shaped his understanding of human rights, responsibility, and dignity.

This podcast explores:

- How an uncomfortable citizenship interview became a lesson about rights, power, and responsibility.
- The difference between the legal framework of rights and our human responsibility to others.

- Why "who's right and who's wrong?" is often the wrong question in conflict resolution.
- Amaladas' vision for continuing Arthur Mauro's dream of making Winnipeg a "cultural centre for hope".
- The importance of approaching difficult conversations with curiosity instead of judgment.
- How we can speak to those in positions of power "in a way that is not tyrannical".

Dr. Amaladas brings both academic expertise in Leadership Studies and personal experience to this thoughtful discussion about what it means to lead for peace. His perspective on treating people as people first - recognizing their dignity beyond their utility - offers an important lesson for navigating today's divided world. As Dr. Amaladas reminds us: "It's not going to come from theories or big ideas. It's going to come from people who treat people as people."

Stewardship

June 1st, 2025 - The Ascension of the Lord

"I am the Alpha and the Omega, the first and the last, the beginning and the end."
(REVELATION 22:13)

This is a reminder of how we should live our lives 24 hours a day, 7 days a week – putting God first in all that we do.
